

Norris & Parker

Hailed as fearless performers and skilled writers, Katie Norris and Sinead Parker will lure you into their web of dark and surreal comedy like two black widows in lycra.

Their latest offering, All Our Friends Are Dead, is a wild and ridiculous hour of sketches, characters and songs weaved within a narrative of underlying aggression between Norris & Parker themselves.

The duo met at the Manchester Met School of Theatre shackled together by a shared birthday, a shared flat and a shared infatuation with Kate Bush. Their growing reputation and cult following resulted in sell out shows at Edinburgh Fringe Festival 2015.
